

PATRARAVADI

Students Letter:

Dear Host Family,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is Patraravadi Supapol, but you can call me Supreme. I am 15 years old and very excited about the opportunity to stay with your family as part of my exchange program. I live in Bangkok, Thailand, and I study at Yothinburana School. I have many interests and hobbies and look forward to sharing them with you during my stay.

I love music and play several instruments, including the violin, guitar, and piano. Music has always been an important part of my life, and I would be happy to play for you or even teach you a bit if you're interested! Besides music, I enjoy playing sports such as badminton, soccer, and tennis. I love being active, and I hope to have the chance to join in any activities or games your family enjoys.

One of my favorite hobbies is cooking and baking. I've learned to make some traditional Thai dishes as well as desserts like cakes and cookies. I would love to cook for you and share some of the flavors and dishes that are popular in Thailand, as I think it's a great way to bring cultures together through food.

I am also very excited to share with you why I am particularly interested in Austria. Austria is a country I've always admired for its rich history, beautiful landscapes, and strong cultural traditions. I've read a lot about the Austrian lifestyle and I find it fascinating how well Austria balances modern life with its deep cultural roots. From the classical music of Mozart and Beethoven to the beautiful Alps, there is so much about Austria that I am eager to experience.

1. As someone who loves music and is a music teacher for kids, I've always been inspired by Austria's classical music heritage. The idea of being in the country where some of the world's greatest composers lived and worked is something that excites me a lot. I also admire the Austrian approach to education, which I believe places a strong emphasis on both creativity and discipline. I'm excited to learn more about this, as it would be a great opportunity for me to grow both academically and personally.

2. Austria's culture of hospitality, the warmth of its people, and the tradition of delicious food are the things I look forward to experiencing. I hope to try authentic Austrian dishes and, in turn, share some of my Thai recipes with you. I also love the idea of exploring Austrian festivals, traditions, and customs, as I'm sure they will help me understand the country's unique identity.

During my time abroad, I hope to experience life in your country, improve my language skills, and learn about your culture. At the same time, I look forward to sharing my own culture with you, from Thai customs and holidays to our cuisine and traditional music. I believe cultural exchange is all about learning from each other and building understanding.

I am looking forward to getting to know you all, sharing experiences, and making memories that will last a lifetime. Thank you for considering me as part of your family.

Parents Letter:

Dear Host Family,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is Fon, and I am the mother of Miss Patraravadi Supapol, also known as Supreme. I currently work as the Head of the Power Plant Professional Standards Development Division at a Power Generation State Enterprise. Supreme and I live together in Bangkok, Thailand. I'm writing this letter to introduce my daughter and to wholeheartedly recommend her as a valuable addition to your family.

From a young age, Supreme has shown a natural ability to adapt to new environments and connect with people of all ages. During her kindergarten years, she attended a Waldorf-style school, where she learned the values of self-reliance, creativity, and caring for younger children. Later, for her primary education, she enrolled in a local school near our home, under the loving guidance and supervision of her grandparents. These experiences have shaped her into a compassionate, adaptable, and responsible individual who is especially skilled at interacting with both young children and the elderly. Additionally, she has had the opportunity to volunteer with children with autism, which further highlights her patience, empathy, and open-mindedness.

As a mother, I have witnessed Supreme's growth and development over the years. She possesses a wonderful sense of humor, natural leadership abilities, and a flair for creativity. Her empathy for others is something I deeply admire. She is eager to take on new challenges and thrives in environments where she can learn from experienced individuals like yourselves. I truly believe that her lively, kind-hearted, and dedicated personality will make her a delightful presence in your family.

Academically, Supreme is a dedicated, enthusiastic, and hardworking student. She has a passion for music, psychology, and languages, and she is always curious to learn more. Her love for self-improvement drives her to seek out new knowledge and experiences. I believe that your home will provide the perfect space for her to continue growing both academically and personally.

I have no doubt that under your guidance, Supreme will flourish. I also believe that she will be a positive influence on your family, bringing warmth, energy, and a sense of camaraderie to your household. If you would like to know more about Supreme or discuss any specific details, I would be more than happy to provide additional information.

Thank you very much for considering this recommendation. I look forward to hearing from you and sincerely hope that you will give Supreme the opportunity to become a cherished member of your family.

With warmest regards,

Fon
